pandsome summer costumes and the commencement exercises were imposing with their stately procession, literary exercises and class dinners. As in former years the National Lancers escorted the Governor of Massachusetts and his staff from Boston in the early hours of the day. Between this incident and the lively alumni dinner in Memorial Hall came orations and the conferring of diplomas and degrees, when, in addition to class honors, discinctions were bestowed upon Jules Martin Cambon, Ambassador from France to the United States; William Thomas Sampson, Rear-Admiral of the United States Navy; Dr. Leonard Wood, Military Commander of Santiago; Kentaro Kaneko, former member of the Japanese Embassy; Arthur Twining Hadley, president-elect of Yale University, and Prefessor Ira N. Hollis.

At Yale there was an imposing assemblage of the ends of the graduates, who, before receiving their diplomas, took part with the faculty in a stately ession and in gowns and mortar-board caps marched across the green to the strains of music played by a regimental band. Mr. and Mrs. Corne-lius Vanderbilt, with a party of friends, were among the spectators of the exercises. Their son, Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt, was one of the grad-

Almost simultaneous with these conquests of learning and triumphs of the brain came the races on the upper Hudson and at New-London, which for two days, at least, was beside itself with the realry of the competing carsmen, the flashing of pollege colors and the deafening notes of college cries. The elements were propitious, so the enjoyment of the day was complete.

Newport or Bar Harbor. Small dinners and lunchcons are the daily diversions of both places, and at Newport Bellevue-ave, is gay every afternoon at the driving hour with showy equipages, thoroughbred horses and handsome women. At Bar Harbor nearly all the cottage owners and lessees have arrived for the season, and a few of them are entertaining in a modest way. The weather for weeks has been perfect, and all sorts of outdoor life is being enjoyed to the fullest extent. An important occurrence was the opening of the Kebo Valley Club yesterday and the first of the Saturday Valley Club yesterday and the first of the Saturday night dinner dances. Among those who are estab-lished for the season in their homes are Mr. and Mrs. John J. Emory, Mr. and Mrs. Ernesto G. Fab-terl, Mr. and Mrs. William Jay Schleffelin, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Pinchot, who have rented Stanwood, Mrs. James G. Blaine's cottage, for the sea-son: Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. John Livingston, who are occupying the Carroll Mercer cottage; Mr. and Mrs. J. Pierpont Edwards, Henry T. Sloane, who has taken a lease of Bonny Bryn, the Barney cottage; Baron von Hengelmuller, the Austrian Ambassador, and wife; Mrs. Cadwal-ader Jones, Miss Beatrix Jones, Mr, and Mrs. Gardiner Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. David B. Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. May and Mrs. Carrie Wright. One wedding at the least, is promised to take place at Bar Harbor this summer, that of Miss Elizabeth Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll Jackson, to the Rev. William Osborn Baker, rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. Sauveur, at Bar Harbor. The welding will be celebrated in the church before the end of the season. Mrs. Jackson, the mother of the bride-elect, has just built a new rectory on the church grounds, with a cloistered way leading to the edifice, in momory of her mother, the late Mrs. Dinner parties and luncheons were given at New-sister of Mrs. John Jacob Astor, has arrived for the geason. She is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Willing.

Southampton, Long Island, always a pretty village and a popular one, even when William Hoyt, the late Wyllys Betts and Dr. T. Gaillard Thomas were almost the only cottage-owners, and when the old windmill, which was occupied one summer by Colonel William Jay and his family, wa ered a desirable residence, has within the last fer years become an important place, and to-day holds its own with any of the fashionable summer places, It is only a few years ago since nearly all the sum-mer visitors to Southampton found accommodations in roadside boarding houses, where food of indifferent quality was dispensed so sparingly that many of the boarders went to bed hungry. But all is changed. Energy and a determination to have better things have asserted themselves, with the result that cottage life has increased enormously, and not only have new clubs sprung up, but real for hunts, star hunts, gair and tennis are among fox hunts, stag hunts, golf and tennis are among the season's pastimes. The town fiself and all the adjacent country for miles around are dotted with handsome, picturesque homes. Several new cot-tages have been built since last season, among them being those of ex-Judge Alonzo C. Monson, Mrs. James Ruggles, A. B. Claffin and ex-Judge Henry E. Howland. Among others who are living in their own summer homes and those who have rented cottages are Mr. and Mrs. Horace Russell, who are occupying Williston House, a handsome manare occupying Williston House, a handsome mansion of Colonial design; Mr. and Mrs. George Sheldon and the Misses Sheldon, who are in Holbrook,

The cup, is a constant of the steem felt for him.

The cup is of massive proportions and chaste design, and the international significance of the gift is shown in the blending of the French and American coats of arms. It stands about two and one-half feet high, with the top of the bowl about ten inches across. The outer surface is sliver richly embossed, while the inside is of hammered gold. Around the outside of the bowl, in raised Old English text, runs the following inscription:

Presented by the President of the United States to His Excellency M. Jules Cambon, Ambassador of France, in token of his friendly services in the negotiation of the protocol of peace between the United States and Spain, August 12, 1898.

The bowl is supported on the shoulders of three American eagles. These, in turn, are on a massive silver pedestal, around which circle the thirteen stars emblematic of the thirteen original States. # J. B. DILL ILL IN EAST ORANGE.

THE CORPORATION LAWYER'S CONDITION CAUSES ANXIETY TO HIS FRIENDS.

Brick Church, N. J., July 1 (Special).—The well-known corporation lawyer, James B. Dill, is seriously fill at his home, No. 81 Harrison-st., East Orange, and his family and many friends are feeling extremely anxious about him. He suffered from a chill an Manday availar, and this was followed: a chill on Monday evening, and this was followed by a high fever. These extreme symptoms yielded to the remedles prescribed, and Mr. Dill was com-paratively comfortable this evening. Dr. Murray of New-York, was called in in consultation with Dr. Edgar V. Moffat, his attending physician

Dr. Edgar V. Moffat, his attending physician.

To a Tribune reporter Dr. Moffat said that Mr.
Dill was suffering from grip, which ran with a low fever. He added that typhoid symptoms presented themselves, and it was feared for some time the fever would develop into typhoid, but that these fever would develop into typhoid, but that these threatening symptoms had passed away, and he felt justified in asserting that the case was not a typhoid one. The doctor expressed the hope that he would have Mr. Dill back at his work again before the end of the month.

Mr. Dill is one of the leading corporation lawyers of this city, and is the author of "Dill on Corpora-tions," a standard work which has just gone into tions," a standard work which has just gone into its second edition. He has an especial familiarity with New-Jersey corporation practice, a fact which has resulted in his counsel and co-operation being sought in the organization of most of the great industrial consolidations which have been incorporated under the laws of New-Jersey during the last few months. He is also interested in finance, having been chalrman of the State Commission which recently revised the laws of New-Jersey relating to banks, trust companies and safe-deposit companies, and being a director of the North American Trust Company, and president of the New-Jersey Registration and Trust Company. Mr. Dill is a college classmate of Fresident Hadley, of Yale, from which institution both were graduated in 1856.

THE PASSING THRONG.

Republican party could no longer

In speaking of the political situation ex-Schator W. D. Washburn, of Minnesota, said yesterday, at the Fifth Avenue Hotel: "I concur fully with the statement made by ex-Senator EX-SENATOR Blair of New-Hampshire, in which WASHRURN'S he said that the question of trusts the statement was all the statement with the property of the statement with the stateme is the hinge upon which the next Presidential campaign will swing. The trusts-most of them overcapitalized—have become so numerous in the last few months that the people regard them with the utmost suspicion, and it will fare badly with the party or the man who is identified with them. Hanna's supposed connection with the trusts and his political association with the President have created the impression in some quarters that Mr. McKinley is controlled by the trusts. It would be a most unwise thing to allow the people to go to the polis with that impression, and would, I believe result disastrously to the Republican party. There is no doubt that Mr. McKinley will be renominated practically without opposition, if he settles satisfactorily the question of trusts and the rebellion in the Philippines. The manner in which that insurrection has been allowed to drag on has met with severe criticism all over the country, and I consider it of paramount importance that large reinforcements be sent to the islands at once. It is evident that we have underestimated the character of the Filippinos. They have shown themselves brave and persevering but this is a cause for encouragement rather than discouragement for when the are faulty countered. apitalized-have become so numerous in the last this is a cause for encouragement rather than dis couragement, for when they are finally conquered they will make a much better class of citizens than though they were the lazy, servile creatures we at first believed them to be. It is only natural that they should distrust us and our methods, for they have been subjected to the most unjust treatment for centuries."

F. H. Dexter, American counsel for the Porto Rico Railway Company, recently arrived in this city from San Juan, Porto Rico. When seen yes-terday at the Hotel Imperial he BITUATION "Business in Porto Rico is dull IN at present, probably more so than PORTO RICO, it was before the American occupation. Prosperity will come to the tsland only when free trade is established with the United States. The people are loyal to us, and are anxious for the introduction of American customs, but they hope that the revolution will not be too but they hope that the revolution will not be too sudden. To change their mode of life in a week or a month would be an impossibility, and should not be attempted. It should be done gradually. Their courts should not be overthrown at once, but American courts should be established here and there, from time to time, until Spanish law shall have disappeared. The United States has already established a provisional court, which deals with all cases pertaining to foreign citizens and with matters concerning the government of the island.

matters concerning the government of the island. This court has met with no antagonism from the Spanish is wyers.

"Porto Rico is destined to become the principal winter resort under the American flag. The climate is perfect and the scenery delightful. I have heard already of several excursions being organized to go there this winter. On the other hand, the Porto Ricans are flocking to the United States in large numbers. They appear to be desirous of finding out for themselves what kind of a country they belong to.

"Here is an incident showing that the people of Porto Rico have long been watching and waiting for some one to deliver them from the power of Spain: Years before the Spanish-American War was dreamed of a statue of Columbus was unveiled at Mayaguez. The Spanish colors surrounded the figure, and in pulling them aside the emblem caught on the extended hand of the statue and was torn in twair. The people took it as an omen signifying that the descendants of Columbus would one day rend the hated flag and free the islanders from their bondage. They regard Americans as descendants of Columbus, and thus the sign proved true."

J. Kajiura, an engineer in the Bureau of Telegraphy of the Department of Communications, in Japan, is in the city, staying at the Hotel Im-perial. terday afternoon. "We admire your ways of doing business, and are indebted to you for much valuable information. We believe that the United States is the most progressive nation in the world, and we feel perfectly safe in copying your methods. In Japan we have the Morse system of telegraphy and about one thousand miles of wire. We can send messages as rapidly as you can, but our system of delivery is not so good because we have not the pneumatic tubes. It is a part of my mission to investigate these with a view to establishing them in my country. I will also look into your telephone system. There are a great many telephones in Japan now, and the number is increasing every day."

made brigadier-general of volunteers. In January he started for the Philippines, reaching Manila on March 4. On March 24 he fell mortally wounded while leading the 23d in a battle near Manila. The bronze tablet unveiled yesterday was erected by the citizens of Cincinnati, and is noteworthy as the first tribute of the kind ever erected by the people of this country to the soldiers of the Regular Army. The heroic medallion to General Eghet is the wounds of the Spanish War to die in the cause if restoring order in the Philippines.

The citizens of the kind ever erected by the people of this country to the soldiers of the Regular Army. The heroic medallion to General Eghet is to be an impression in this country that the road is being built by the Russian Government. This is not so. It is owned by a private corporation, of which the Chinese Minister to Russia is president. The Government has nothing to do with it. We are using seventy-two-point rails—some American, some English, some German—and are building a road that is in every respect first class. The Chinese are glad to have the road, because it furnishes work for thousands of them. It takes about twenty Chinese laborers to do as much work as one European. We not the large and my grant will go by way of San Francisco, as he has some business to transact in that city. About two hundred and fifty miles of the call two hundred and fifty miles of the call two hundred miles of track, There seems to be an impression in this country that the road is being built by the Russian Government. We pay the best class of workmen 15 cents a day. The others get 10 cents. We estimate that the road will cost from $30,000,000 to $35,000,000. All the locomotives will be bought in America and the cars in Europe. Baldwin's Locomotive Works, in Philadelphia, now has forty engines ready for shipment."

T. W. Williams, an English journalist, is at the Hotel Imperial. Mr. Williams is on his way to

"Black and White" and "The Peo-ple," all London publications. He said yesterday that he had received letters from the Klondike stating TRANSVAAL, that there was going to be another boom in the mining business, and that somebody had "struck it rich." "I will also take in British Columbia," he said.

"The opening up of the mining regions there, fol-lowing the building of the Crow's Nest branch of lowing the building of the Crow's Nest branch of the Canadian Pacifio Railroad, is exciting much interest in London. Speaking of the crisis which has arisen in the Transvaal controversy. Mr. Williams said: "It is the general belief among English newspaper men that there will be serious trouble in the Transvand-probably war. I have been all over President Krüger's domain, and am well acquainted with the traditions as they exist in the republic. The treatment of the Outlanders is simply outrageous, and England cannot afford to allow it to be continued. Foreign capital built Johannesburg, and to foreign capital the Transvani Government owes everything that it has to-day. Yet the men who invested that capital get no consideration whatever, but are legislated lagainst in every possible way to please the whims and fill the pockets of the Boers."
